

BLESSED SACRAMENT

PARISH NEWS

25 July 2021. 17th Sunday in Ordinary Time. Year B

Jesus gave out as much as was wanted to all who were sitting ready

For the next five weeks we take our leave of Saint Mark's Gospel (since it is not long enough to fill the year) and read Chapter Six of Saint John's Gospel. This is the famous "Eucharistic Discourse" and begins with the miracle of the feeding of the five thousand. A line of the Psalm gives the meaning of today's readings: "The eyes of all creatures look to you (O God) and you give them their food in due time." Our God is the God who provides for his people; the prosperity and fruitfulness of our earth and the mysterious cycles of nature ensures that all have what they need - and have some left over. The actions of Elisha and Jesus are in a sense prophetic: many would say that there is not enough food in this world to go round, just as the two sets of disciples complain that there is not enough for the hundred or the five thousand. But the prophetic action states that this is not true: God provides what is needed. This might prompt us to think about the unfair and unequal distribution of the fruits of the earth: the miracle is a sign of the Kingdom of God - what God wants the world to be like. Perhaps we should take the message of the miracle to heart this Sunday and think about the multitude that still sits in hunger in our world today.

18th Sunday in Ordinary Time

He who comes to me will never be hungry.

He who believes in me will never thirst.

We continue reading from John 6: this is the aftermath of the miracle, and we see the beginnings of a misunderstanding that will develop over the next four weeks. People have seen the miracle, but not the message: they have seen the sign, but not what it points towards. The bread that was given is a sign of the Bread of Life, which is the teaching, the words and the very person of Jesus, as the revelation of the Father. His mission is to draw people back to his Father, to found a New Covenant or relationship. As the weeks go by, we will see that the people's hunger is simply for spectacle and miracle, not for the much harder teaching of living nourished by God's word and the presence of his only Son. For us, the People of the New Covenant, these passages must make us think of how we receive the Lord in the Eucharist. Are we nourished by his presence, so that all the hunger and thirst of our lives is answered by the One who is the Bread of Life?

World Day for Grandparents and the Elderly

Pope Francis has established a World Day for Grandparents and the Elderly, taking place for the first time today Sunday July 25 For links to the Holy Father's letter and information go to Catholic Grandparents Association.

Grandparents have no agenda; they simply want the best for their grandchildren. They want them to be good, decent human beings, to know the difference between right and wrong, able to make good moral decisions and, if they go astray along the way, to be able to find their way back to a loving, forgiving, non-judgmental God.

Moving forwards...

So called 'Freedom Day' was last Monday and whilst it made a huge difference for some people, for us as a parish it had little impact. Many of our faithful are still vulnerable, many more feel vulnerable and so we have decided that we are going to continue with the measures we already have in place, at least until the end of August. This will mean that although it's not the law, we will ask you to wear a face covering whilst you are in church. Please continue to sanitise your hands on entry.

We have relaxed the social distancing slightly so that if you are a couple in a pew a single person can sit at the other end of the same pew. This will increase our capacity but we ask you to be sensitive. You may be very excited to slide up to someone you haven't seen for ages and give them a squeeze, they may not feel so inclined! We will at some stage remove the ropes between the pews but this means we will be in close proximity to one another - if you are kneeling and the person in the pew in front wants to sit back you'll be literally breathing down their neck!

We will reinstate singing at some Masses, not all. We propose that the 10.45am Mass on Sunday will be celebrated with hymns and the chants of the Mass, so if you want to avoid this, please come at another time. Remember the obligation to attend Mass on Sunday is still suspended. The 8.45am and 6.00pm Masses will continue to be 'quiet'. We're not sure what it will be like singing wearing a mask (try it at home before you come), but we'll give it a go!

At the moment I think it prudent to continue distributing Holy Communion at the end of Mass. This will change, but it does mean that the moving around the church, climbing over people in the pew who are not coming to receive etc. will be minimised. We will also soon reinstate the Procession of Gifts at the offertory and, who knows, perhaps one day we will be able to offer each other the sign of peace - not just a cursory nod!

You will still be asked to provide your details for track and trace and the Stewards – God bless them – will continue to clean after you have left the church building. The QR code is available in the church for you to 'check in' if you have the Covid-19 app.

The live streaming of the Masses has become a permanent feature of what people are calling 'Hybrid Church' and we know how important it is. Although it is not attending Mass in the traditional way it does provide a sense of community and belonging which we all know is much needed, perhaps now more than ever.

So we continue to be aware of one another and especially those who are anxious. We have done so well and I am so grateful to you all for your patience and resilience. May God continue to bless us all. Fr Jonathan.

Pope Francis on Mercy

Humility is the necessary condition to be raised by Him, so as to experience the mercy that comes to fill our emptiness. If the prayer of the proud does not reach God's heart, the humility of the poor opens it wide.

FOR ALL THE SAINTS...

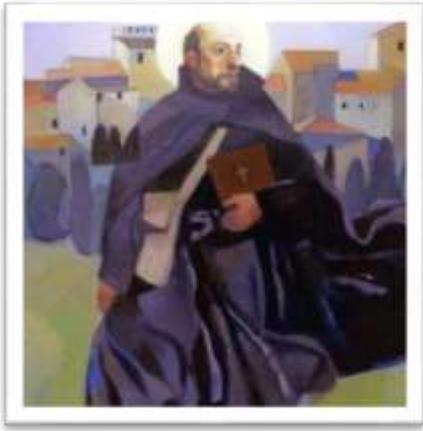

26 July St Joachim & St Anne, parents of the Blessed Virgin Mary

An ancient tradition, already known in the 2nd century, gives these names to the parents of the Virgin Mary. The cult of St Anna became popular in the 6th century in the East, and in the 10th century in the West, where she is the patron saint of Brittany; Joachim was added a long time later – too often the fate of fathers. Although the information about Mary's parents is found in an early apocryphal writing that gives many miraculous and highly-coloured stories about the early life of the Virgin Mary, there is no reason to suppose that such a straightforward fact as her parents' names should be wrong, since there is nothing to be gained from falsifying it. It does not occur in the Gospels simply because the most reliable evangelists (the only ones whom we have allowed into the Bible) felt they had more important things to talk about. But what, after all, could be more important than the parents who brought up the Virgin Mary to be the woman she was? At the moment of consenting to the Incarnation she took the most important decision ever taken by any human being, and the fact that she took it is, to a great extent, the work of her parents. The Holy Spirit gave her the strength to take the decision; but her parents' training gave her the wisdom to choose. Those of us who have children must seek to bring them up to the best of our ability, to meet challenges that, like Anna and Joachim, we have no way of even imagining.

29 July St Martha

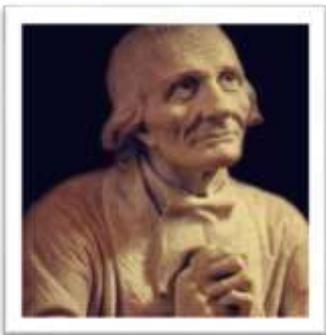

Martha was the sister of Mary of Bethany and Lazarus. In the West, her feast day comes a week after that of St Mary Magdalene because of the old and probably erroneous tradition that Mary Magdalene was the same person as Martha's sister. Modern scholarship having made matters clearer, Martha, Mary and Lazarus have since 2021 been celebrated together on this day, which was formerly assigned to Martha alone.

31 July St Ignatius of Loyola, Priest

Ignatius was born in Loyola in the Spanish Basque country. He was a soldier, but was wounded in the battle of Pamplona (against the French) at the age of 30. During a long convalescence he read a life of Christ and a collection of lives of the saints, and discovered that his true vocation was to devote his life wholly to God. He was as systematic about this as he had been about his military career: he spent a year's retreat in a Dominican friary, made a pilgrimage to Jerusalem, and then set about learning Latin. Such enthusiasm in a layman caused grave suspicion in the Spanish authorities, and he was questioned and imprisoned more than once. He moved to Paris in 1528 and continued his studies; and then in 1534 Ignatius and six companions bound themselves to become missionaries to the Muslims in Palestine. By the time they were ready to set out, war made the journey impossible and so the group (now numbering ten) offered their services to the Pope in any capacity he might choose. A number of them were duly ordained and they were all assigned to various tasks. Soon it was proposed that they should organise themselves into a regular religious order, and in 1540 the Society of Jesus (the Jesuits) was formed. Ignatius was the first Superior General until his death. Soon after their foundation the Jesuits began to meet the challenge of the Reformation: a tough task, given the debilitated state into which the Church had fallen, but one which, as Ignatius said, had to be undertaken "without hard words or contempt for people's errors". Ignatius had a gift for inspiring friendship, and was the recipient of deep spiritual insight. Soon after his conversion Ignatius wrote the Spiritual Exercises, a systematic step-by-step retreat that can be followed by anyone – and has been followed by many, not all of them Catholics, ever since.

4 August St John Mary Vianney, Priest

He was the son of a peasant farmer, and a slow and unpromising candidate for the priesthood: he was eventually ordained on account of his devoutness rather than any achievement or promise. In 1818 he was sent to be the parish priest of Ars-en-Dombes, an isolated village some distance from Lyon, and remained there for the rest of his life because his parishioners would not let him leave. He was a noted preacher, and a celebrated confessor: such was his fame, and his reputation for insight into his penitents' souls and their futures, that he had to spend up to eighteen hours a day in the confessional, so great was the demand. The tens of thousands of people who came to visit this obscure parish priest turned Ars into a place of pilgrimage. "The Curé refused to sit for a portrait. When the sculptor Cabuchet surreptitiously tried to capture his features in a ball of wax during the catechism, Vianney sternly bounced him out of the church." (The Curé d'Ars Today, by G.W.Rutler, 1988). The French State recognised his eminence by awarding him the medal of the Légion d'Honneur in 1848, he sold it and gave the money to the poor.

6 August The Transfiguration of the Lord

The Transfiguration of the Lord can sound embarrassingly magical. Jesus goes up onto a mountain and his clothes become dazzlingly white. Prophets appear and talk to him. And then it is all over and Jesus tells his disciples to say nothing. We should hold on to the absurdity of the incident. There is simply no reason for all this to have happened. In particular, there is no reason to put it into a gospel – the evangelist makes no capital out of it, it is simply there. And this is the strength of the Transfiguration as an historical incident. There is no reason for anyone to have invented it. It is not central to the Christian case. It is not used to win arguments. There is only one reason to put it into the Gospel, and that is because it happened. It is one of those cases of the evangelists writing things down without knowing why they were important, and their very puzzlement is what makes the story so convincing. Why, then, did it happen? Surely so that we could see and understand that Jesus is at once one of the prophets and the one that was prophesied by them; and that he is God, and lives for all eternity in a blaze of dazzling and unapproachable light. The true miracle of the Transfiguration is not the shining face or the white garments, but the fact that for the rest of the time Jesus hid his glory so well.
